Afzaal Memorial Thalassemia Foundation

your blood can save thousand smiles

The clinic that started with a capacity to treat 10 patients at a time is now providing completely free of cost services to 313 children.

Afzaal Memorial Thalassemia Foundation (AMTF) is a registered society established with an aim to provide free quality health care to the thalassemia-affected children. The trust is being run by the financial and social assistance of people from different walks of life. It is proven that awareness is the only effective solution to prevent this disease. The foundation has formulated a comprehensive program for the purpose with the help of people from different spheres of life converged on one platform with the ambition to aid thalassemic patients and their families.

At AMTF, we believe in providing the optimal standard of care to every thalassemic child without any predefined prejudices against any caste or creed.
